April 9, New York, NY – Afield: A Chef's Guide to Preparing and Cooking Wild Game and Fish by Jesse Griffiths (author) & Jody Horton (photographer) has been nominated for a 2013 James Beard Foundation Book Award (Single Subject category).

Cookbook Winners will be announced May 3, 2013 in New York City at Gotham Hall.

"We are stunned and ecstatic that the Beard foundation would recognize AFIELD. The collaboration between us took almost three years of hard, but enjoyable, work, and we hope this honor signifies a new awareness of wild foods, responsible eating, and conservation." – Jesse Griffiths and Jody Horton

Released in September 2012, Griffiths and Horton's masterful, informative and frankly beautiful book has been—and continues to be—widely heralded by critics and fans alike.

Sam Sifton featured the book on two pages in the New York Times Magazine.

Hank Shaw, author of Hunt, Gather, Cook called it "one of a very few modern cookbooks that does justice to America's wild game and fish."

Carla Hall, co-host of "The Chew" (ABC-TV) raved, "Much praise goes to Jesse for making the art of hunting and cooking game approachable."
